

ISMAY DECLARES TITANIC WAS NOT TRYING FOR SPEED

Testifies That No Women Were In Sight When He Got Into Lifeboat.

(Continued from First Page.)
were put into the boats on the deck, and the boats were dropped into the water. All the boats were on the upper deck. I don't know how many of the crew were in each boat. There were several in each boat, one a quartermaster.

"Women and children first" was the order given. It was followed, so far as I observed, by the women and children. I saw no women in the lifeboats.

"I saw none," Ismay replied, in a lower tone of voice, fiddling nervously with his glasses. "I simply picked the first women we could lay our hands on. I helped put some in myself."

Senator Smith then quizzed Ismay regarding the report that women were sent off without any arms, and were forced to pull the boats themselves.

"Did you see any lifeboat without its complement of women?"

"None that I saw was undermanned," Ismay said. "There were women in the second boat from 11:30 at night until dawn," Smith said.

"Of that I have no knowledge," Ismay declared.

"Did you see any passengers on the Titanic just before she sank," asked Smith.

"I saw them, but I did not recognize any of them."

"Did you see Charles M. Hays, or know of the presence of any other prominent American or Canadian on the boat prior to the sinking?"

"I knew Hays was on board, but I did not see him."

Senator Smith then asked what were the circumstances under which he left the Titanic.

"I was immediately opposite the last boat which the sailors were trying to lower. There was unfiled space in the boat. The captain asked 'Are there any more women?' There was no answer."

"The captain said: 'There are no more. There were no other male passengers on that part of the ship. Just before Ismay was lowered I stepped in.'"

Ismay said he did not know where the Titanic was struck by the iceberg, but that he had been told it was between the breakwater and the bridge.

"All the lifeboats were full," continued Ismay. "I saw no other passengers. I saw no struggle, no confusion. I saw no one jump into the sea from the Titanic."

When the Titanic struck the water, Ismay saw a light some distance off and went to make it. We were in the open sea in the lifeboat about four hours.

"There were other lifeboats in that vicinity. We hailed one, but got no answer. There were no rafts on board the Titanic."

"The Titanic struck the water, and the Star line discontinued their use, considering them unsafe. There were twenty lifeboats on the Titanic—sixteen wooden and four collapsible. When we reached the Carpathia we walked up the Jacob's ladder to the deck. I do not know what happened to the lifeboats. I did not look to see if they were in two. I did not look to see if there was water in them. After the bridge I did not see the captain."

Full Complement of Boats.
Ismay was asked if the Titanic had been equipped with her full complement of lifeboats.

"She must have been," he replied, "or else she could not have sailed from a British port."

"There has been a suggestion," said Senator Smith, "that the Titanic was an explosion before the ship went down."

"I know nothing of it," replied Ismay. "I would have known, I believe, had such a thing taken place."

He said that had the Titanic struck the iceberg head on, in all human probability she would be afloat today.

"The ship was especially constructed so as to float with any two of her compartments full of water. I believe every few days today would be under this condition. When we built the Titanic we had this in mind."

Washingtonians At Religious Congress

Washington is well represented at the National Conservation Congress of the Men and Religion Forward Movement in session in New York today. Seventeen local church men now are in attendance at the congress. Those there are Everett C. Tarring, Dr. Thomas Leese Jones, Myron J. Jones, Charles S. Nesbitt, Holcombe G. Johnson, the Rev. Donald C. MacLeod, former Commissioner Henry B. F. Macfarland, Walter S. Ufford, Norton M. Little, William Knowles, Cooper, Lawrence L. Lee, Percy S. Foster, W. W. Warwick, Dr. Milton Waldron, Jesse Lawson, and the Rev. E. E. Ricks, and S. J. Nichols. The congress will remain in session until Monday.

Hygiene Congress May Use Park Buildings

At the meeting of the Senate District Committee today favorable reports were ordered on a resolution authorizing the Fifteenth International Congress on Hygiene and Demography to occupy temporary structures of the Red Cross and erect temporary buildings in Potomac Park.

The bill to direct that Crittenden street northwest, between Iowa circle and Seventeenth street, be stricken from the plan for the park, and highway system, also was favored.

New Car to Make Appearance Sunday

The new center entrance car of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, which is hoped might be tried out today cannot have its initial appearance until Sunday or Monday. The latter day is more probable. The missing truck pinions necessary for mounting the car body are not yet at hand.

Capt. Rhoades to Join Fifteenth Cavalry

Capt. Charles H. Rhoades has terminated his detail on the general staff and has been transferred to duty with the Fifteenth Cavalry, at Fort Meyer, to command his new unit on May 1. Captain Rhoades will go to Fort Riley tonight to take the examination for major.

COMMITTEE FAVORS EXPRESS OWNERSHIP BY UNITED STATES

Interstate Commerce Board
Makes Report to House on Proposed Bill.

The House Committee on Interstate Commerce today reported favorably the Goeke bill providing that the Government shall acquire by condemnation or otherwise the express companies, which are to be operated hereafter as an adjunct to the Postoffice Department.

The measure was originally fathered by Congressman Lewis of Maryland, who is not, however, a member of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

The action of the committee today has been overshadowed by the adoption of a rule which makes the Goeke bill in order as an amendment to the post-office appropriation bill in the House.

The Goeke bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

The bill is in substance the proposal which House voted yesterday to consider as part of the post-office appropriation bill, now pending before that body. It provides for the establishment of parcels post and postal express, to be administered by the Postmaster General, and to be operated through the present facilities of the express companies, as soon as the Government acquires them.

D. A. R. HEAD OPPOSED TO ALL THIRD TERMS, SHE TELLS CONGRESS

Mrs. Matthew T. Scott Goes on Record in Continental Hall Session.

There was an air of suppressed excitement at Continental Memorial Hall today, and nobody was surprised when Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, the president general of the National Society, D. A. R., raised the question of privilege long enough to make this announcement:

"I want you to listen to my words now, ladies, so that you will remember them later. I want you to know that I am utterly and irrevocably opposed to a third term, either for myself or many other person. I do not know who is responsible for the announcement in the morning papers that I am seeking to further prolong my term of office, and I ask the newspaper reporters who deny it."

Mrs. Scott then went on to explain her absence of yesterday when the resolution to postpone action on the revision of the constitution until next year was passed by the Story adherents.

"My greatest desire and ambition is to prepare a way for a serene and harmonious term of official life for my successor, and I shall spare no effort to secure the nomination and election of a woman whom I believe to be able to rise above all partisan and petty personal considerations, and who will give us an administration worthy of our great ideals, our splendid past and present, and our more glorious future."

After all of these contributions had been made, one of the number of girl pages who are in attendance upon the president general, stepped to the front of the platform and in a charming little speech said "this gift is not for Continental Memorial Hall, Madame President General, but from your pages who have been so proud to give you their personal services on the platform."

After this, the assembly sang "Daughters of Patriots," the words and music of which were composed by Mrs. Morgan D. Lewis of this city.

Announcement was then made of the sudden death of Mrs. John P. Swift, of California, and had lived in that State since the early '50s. Announcement was also made of the sudden death of O. P. Hodge, husband of Mrs. Hodge, at one time regent of Western Reserve Chapter, Cleveland, Ohio, later State regent, and at a later period a vice president general of the D. A. R.

It was also announced that Mrs. Edward Jones, chairman of the publication committee, was confined to her home on account of severe illness, and a motion was made and unanimously carried that resolutions of sympathy be sent to Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Hodge, and Mrs. Jones.

The matter of new business was to be taken up under another hour for luncheon, and this evening at 8 o'clock the congress will hear further reports from standing committees.

Leaves Hospital and Gets Marriage License

A marriage license was issued today to J. Lynn Yeagle and Evador V. Cadz. Mr. Yeagle, who is news editor of the Washington Herald, was operated upon a month ago for appendicitis. He was removed from the hospital day before yesterday.

Those In Steerage
Sought By Friends

NEW YORK, April 19.—Another drama of sorrow, rage and despair was enacted around the Cunard dock today, where last night the disgraced beneath the weight of grief and joy when the rescue ship Carpathia brought Titanic survivors to land.

Today the relatives and friends of the steerage passengers of the wrecked liner haunted the pier.

When the last of the survivors had been taken off last night and the pier was cleared, this crowd of disappointed friends remembered that in the hurry and excitement of landing no record had been kept of where the steerage passengers were sent. Grief-stricken men and women poured out their hearts in protest and appeal, but officials could give them no news of their loved ones.

Dismisses Appeal
So Court Can Act

Justice Bernard today dismissed condemnation proceedings against the alley in Columbia Heights over which there has been much protest by the citizens, and the Commissioners ordered an appeal to the Court of Appeals. It was at the instance of the Commissioners that proceedings were set aside, after the court had held that the necessity of the alley as a public improvement must be shown before any further steps could be taken. The Court of Appeals has denied a special appeal, holding that an appeal was possible only after proceedings had been closed, so that the issue could only be taken up by Justice Bernard's dismissal of the case.

CASORA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Hutchins

Home Savings Bank
7th St. and Mass. Ave. N. W.
7th & H Sts N. E. 436 7th St. S. W.

Under Government Supervision.
The first rung in the ladder of success is a Bank Account

We Pay 3% Compound Interest on Savings Accounts

NEW SEA RULES ARE FAVORED BY OFFICIAL

P. A. S. Franklin Is Willing To Co-operate With Government.

Vice President P. A. S. Franklin, of the White Star Company, today wired Congressman Luther Wright Mott, of New York, that the company would be willing to co-operate with the Government authorities in any movement looking toward practical regulations at sea to prevent such awful disasters as met with by the steamship Titanic.

On Tuesday Congressman Mott introduced a resolution in the House calling for an investigation of the wreck of the Titanic.

Committees Named for Business High Outing

A meeting was held last evening in the Evans building by members of the Business High School Alumni Association to appoint committees and make plans for the B. S. excursion, June 7, to Marshall, Md.

Those attending the meeting were Miss Ruth Worthington, Bowie, Miss Louise Kiehn, Miss Fred Finott, Miss May Finott, William T. Sullivan, Charles A. Jones, Enry Oehman, Roy M. Perry, Clarence C. Weidemann, Robert C. Tracy, Benjamin A. Holland, Jr., Arthur C. Houghton, and William Patchell.

Two Women Accused
Of Attacking Man

Alleging that Hattie Mune and Ethel Dines attacked William Jones with knives, Detective R. O. Kleindienst, of the Fourth precinct, filed information charging the woman with assault with a dangerous weapon in your today. Jones was unable to appear in court today so the case was continued until April 24.

The victim has a stab wound in his shoulder at the base of the neck, and a long gash across his back.

Justice Refuses
Mandamus Writ

Justice Gould in Circuit Court, No. 2, today refused to grant a writ of mandamus in the suit of George B. Wheelock, a private of the Metropolitan police force, to compel to District Commissioners to promote him from class 2 to class 3, thereby giving him an advance in salary. In their answer the Commissioners set out that the plaintiff must serve five years in class 2 before he is entitled to promotion and the court took the same view.

Cardinal Gibbons
Returns to Baltimore

Cardinal Gibbons, who has been in Washington since Tuesday night, attending meetings of the board of trustees of the Catholic University and the board of archbishops, returned to Baltimore this morning. The other archbishops, of whom nine altogether were at the meeting yesterday, also have left the city bound for their homes. Cardinal Gibbons is due in Washington again Sunday to confirm a class at St. Stephen's.

Taft's Order on Garb
Of Nuns Temporary

President Taft, through his secretary, has written a letter to the preachers who protested against the "revocation" of Indian Commissioner Valentine's order forbidding priests and nuns from wearing religious garb while teaching in the public schools, to the effect that the order was only suspended "until all parties in interest might be afforded full opportunity to be heard."

The President's secretary says the President's ruling on the subject was in no way a permanent revocation.

Want More Time to Study Labor's Demand

NEW YORK, April 19.—A plea for more time for consideration of the engineers' ultimatum to Eastern railroads was made to Chief Justice S. Stone, by Chairman Stuart, of the conference committee this afternoon. He said that members of the committee were so widely scattered that it would take a day or two to recall them here and suggested that Stone withhold action until they can be gathered here on Monday.

TRIAL OF PAGE ON LIBEL CHARGE WILL BE HELD NEXT FALL

New Yorker Pleads Not Guilty, and Is Given
Long Delay.

Henry W. Page, a linen commission broker of New York, indicted on charges of libel in connection with circular letters condemning Congressman Clayton, chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Justice Anderson in Criminal Court, No. 1, today.

Bond was fixed at $5,000, and the defendant was released pending his trial, which was fixed for next fall, following an argument over the suggestion of United States Attorney Clarence R. Wilson that June 13 should be the date for hearing the cydure. Mr. Page pleaded he had booked passage for England and was a sufferer from hay fever, and that he would prefer to be tried next October or November.

Constitutional questions arising from the fact that Mr. Page is a British subject, although he came to the United States twenty years ago, developed. He claimed that he was not given all the rights of a foreigner or a citizen.

S. Bell Thomas, of New York, appeared as attorney for Mr. Page. Bond was furnished by the Illinois Surety Company.

To Have Degree Work
At Frederick Meeting

At the Maryland State convention of the Knights of the Macabees at Frederick, Md., June 8, the degree team of Brightwood Tent, No. 6, will exemplify degree work on 100 candidates. The fame of the Brightwood Tent degree team, under Capt. E. W. Snoots, has spread far and near.

A. W. Frye, deputy supreme commander of Maryland, Delaware, and New Jersey, picked this team out of about 100 to be present at the convention for this special work.

Last night the team visited Metropolitan Tent, No. 12, in the Pythian Temple, and exemplified degree work on three candidates. Eighteen men compose the team.

Rooming House Burns.

Fire this morning did $500 damage to the rooming house at 182 K street northwest, conducted by Harry Hall. The blaze, which was of unknown origin, started in a front room on the third floor. The firemen confined the fire to the rooming house, and no damage was done by water to the floor below.

President to Attend
Memorial Services

President Taft will attend the memorial services for Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, U. S. A., on Governors Island on April 26, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

Secretary of War Finck has also ordered Brigadier General Ellis to send a detachment of troops to West Point from New York to attend the funeral and burial there of the late military officer. The troops will be transported from New York city to West Point in Government vessels.

Why You Should
Bathe Internally

Under our present mode of living, Nature unassisted cannot dispose of all the waste. This waste sends its poisons into the system, through the blood circulation, and brings on countless ills.

That's the reason a physician's first step in illness is to give a laxative. Physicians generally, in order to stop this accumulation of waste, are now advising the use of the J. B. L. Cascade, Nature's cure for Constipation, which rides the lower intestine of all waste and keeps it healthy without drugging.

It is now being shown by Affleck's Drug Stores, 15th & F N. W., 904 G St. N. W., Washington.

Ask for booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 60 Per Cent Efficient."

The Parker-Bridget & Co. At Ave. Ninth

—Outfitters to Men and Little Men.

LISTEN, MEN! When your Suit comes from Parker-Bridget you ARE SURE of ITS QUALITY, certain of its COR-RECT TAILORING.

YOU try "P-B" garments on, see for yourself how they fit—then you have the "P-B" guarantee of absolute satisfaction to answer for the quality of the materials.

YOU can get any style you want, provided fashion says it's correct.

English — Semi-English —
Two-Button Sack—Three-Button Conservative Models, in pleasing patterns—original patterns.

At every man's price—
$15, $18, $20, $25 and Up.

Teck
Oxfords

IN every style, every leather, at every price, to please every man.

$3, $4, $5 and $6
SEE the